JOHN J. ESCH DEFEATED BY FARMER-LABOR COALITION

WILCOX AHEAD BUT LOSING AS COUNTRY REPORTS WHILE LENROOT'S LEAD INCREASES

FOWLER, REID STAATS, WACHS ARE SELECTED

Present Incumbent Wins District Attorney Nomination, Battle Hot

ABEL MOORE LOSSES RACE FOR REGISTER OF DEEDS OFFICE

Returned Soldier Winner of Clerk Fight

UNOFFICIAL returns from thirty out of thirty-eight precincts in La Crosse county show Lucien T. Reid to have been nominated for district attorney, Hubert Staats for county clerk, Ed. C. Miller for sheriff and Charles Wachts for Register of Deeds. All are candidates on the Republican ticket.

Fowler Beats Verchota
A feature of the election was the nomination of Professor Frank H. Fowler, late lieutenant colonel on the staff of the 32nd division, as republican candidate for the legislature in the First Assembly district, defeating Alumnus J. J. Verchota, president of the Trades and Labor council. Fowler's nomination was assured by great majorities piled up in the Fourteenth, Sixteenth and other of the so-called "middle wards," which came in late and returned an 800 majority for Verchota turned in by the north side and some of the south side wards in the first district.

The complete unofficial vote for the first district stands:

Fowler, 3,059.
Verchota, 3,288.

In the second assembly district Orin Fleisher was defeated by W. P. Miller of West Salem by a substantial majority.

Powder's candidacy in the first district is unopposed by a democratic nominee.

On the democratic ticket the only contest has between Mike Britton and John Webber for the sheriff nomination and in ten out of thirty-eight precincts Webber, who has served two terms as sheriff, has 135 votes to 107 polled by Britton. The returns on this contest are so meagre, however, that the actual result will probably not be known until the official count is made.

The district attorneyship was one of the hottest contests of the county campaign and Reid, the present incumbent, rolled up a total of 4,639 votes while Gordon secured 3,885. The nomination of Reid is conceded for his opponent would have to have majorities of better than one hundred in all of his precincts still to be heard from to win.

Staats, the republican nominee for county clerk, is a returned soldier and polled 5,224 votes in thirty-one precincts heard from. Hanson got 5,123.

Ed. Miller, the republican nominee for sheriff got 5,141 votes while Bradley, his opponent, came in with 3,588. Miller is the present undersheriff.

Charles Wachts, an employee of the La Crosse refining company defeated Abel M. Moore of Onalaska for register of deeds, securing 4,963 votes against 3,558 for Moore. Moore is a member of the county board.

RUSSIA AND GERMANY HELPING LITHUANIANS SAYS WARSAW REPORT

Planned to Use Lithuania to Connect Russia and East Prussia is Claim

POLES AND LITHUANIANS FIGHTING ACROSS BORDER

Condition Becoming More Serious Daily

WARSAW, Sept. 8.—BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—Conditions along the Lithuanian front are becoming more serious daily, and according to latest reports, the Poles and Lithuanians are fighting spasmodically across the improvised frontier. In one action two Lithuanian officers and 200 men were captured by the Poles. German and Russian bolsheviks are aiding the Lithuanians. Polish authorities contend. Reports state that Leon Trotsky, Russian bolshevik minister of war and marine, has ordered soviet troops to help the Lithuanians drive the Poles out of that country. The latter, however, contend they have not crossed the demarcation line fixed by the allies.

The Poles contend the Germans and bolshevik planned to use Lithuania as a corridor connecting Russia and East Prussia. Reports received seemed to indicate that German military and commercial interests have combined with the bolsheviks to encourage Lithuanians to wage war against Poland.

Colonel Roosevelt was entering the front seat of the plane, a Curtiss Oriole, in which Bert Chandler, candidate for congress from the First Oklahoma district, was sitting, while Paul Meng, the pilot, gave the propeller blade a twist. The throttle was too high and the big machine tore wildly down the field. Colonel Roosevelt jumped from the fuselage and landed free of the rudders.

SNOWED UNDER IN LA CROSSE BY OVER 2,000

Railroad and Labor Wards Turn in Huge Majorities for Beck in City; Esch Carries Juneau

OLD ESCH STRONGHOLDS FAIL TO COME THROUGH

Sauk, Monroe, Vernon and Jackson Give Beck Small Majorities on Early Returns

JOHN J. ESCH, for twenty-two years representative of the Seventh district in the lower house of congress, went down to defeat yesterday before the Non-Partisan League-Labor combination supporting J. D. Beck of Viroqua. Esch was snowed under by the votes of La Crosse city and county, and possible late returns which may give him majorities in other counties of the Seventh district cannot, on the face of early returns, give him sufficient to overcome the more than 2,000 lead Beck holds in La Crosse.

Railroad and labor wards in the city rolled up overwhelming totals for Beck, and some of the country precincts were not far behind. With almost complete returns for the county the vote stood this morning:

Beck, 5,729.
Esch, 3,709.

Dope is Up

La Crosse county and Vernon county had been conceded to Beck by the Esch managers for some time, but it was not believed that the La Crosse county vote would be so strong as the result showed, and it was believed that Sauk, Jackson, Monroe and other former Esch strongholds in the district would be able to overcome the La Crosse lead and bring the veteran through safely. But all the predictions were upset by the returns as they began to filter in about midnight last night. Not only did La Crosse county defeat Esch much more solidly than had been expected, but former Esch precincts out in the district failed to run true to expected form.

Sauk county, with two precincts missing out of 38, this morning reported Beck 2,415, Esch 2,238. Sauk had been considered safe by the Esch managers. Monroe county, another old Esch stronghold, reported 15 precincts out of 29 giving Beck 1,300, Esch 1,260, with Beck precincts to hear from. Juneau was carried by Esch by the narrow margin of 300 votes, according to partial returns and estimates by Esch leaders in that county. This was hardly enough to offset one of several La Crosse wards which had gone heavily for Beck.

Beck Lead Narrow in Vernon

On the other hand, Vernon county, on early returns, did not deliver anywhere near the sweeping Beck majority that had been counted upon. Advice this morning were that Beck would carry the county by little more than 500 votes. At that hour, with 16 of the 35 Vernon county precincts in the vote stood Beck 1,238, Esch 1,245. Most of the Esch territory, however, including the city of Viroqua, was included in this figure, and it was believed certain that the rest of the county would add to the Beck lead.

Black River Falls reported this morning that Jackson county, another former Esch stronghold, had gone to Beck by nearly 200 votes. With all but three precincts in this morning Beck had 1,534 and Esch 1,397.

Summary of Returns

Summarized, the results available at noon today showed that with about two-thirds of the full returns in from La Crosse, Monroe, Vernon, Sauk and Jackson counties the vote then stood:

Beck, 12,287.

Esch, 9,945.

Figures could not be had in Juneau county nor in Adams, but observers there, on fragmentary returns, predicted that Esch would win by 300 votes in Juneau, and would be beaten by a considerable majority in Adams. Of Clark county, the remaining county in the seventh district, there was little definitely known, but it was felt the vote would probably be about

COX'S FIGURES FOR CLEVELAND CORRECT TESTIFIES BLOSSOM

Ohioan Presents Facts in Support of Cox Charges that Quotas Were Assigned

TELLS HOW $400,000 QUOTA WAS RAISED IN CLEVELAND

Upham Record Shows Amount to be Raised in Entire State

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—First evidence supporting Governor Cox's charge that large quotas were assigned to the principal cities by the republican campaign fund committee was introduced in the senate committee investigation today when Dudley S. Blossom, who helped raise Cleveland's quota, testified Governor Cox's figures, $400,000, for that city were correct.

Senator Reed called the witness' attention to the quota sheet submitted last week by Fred W. Upham, republican national treasurer, which fixed the amount for the entire state of Ohio at $400,000.

Mr. Blossom testified that A. A. Protzman, a paid agent of the national committee, was present when the Cleveland quota was announced as $400,000 and that Mr. Protzman helped direct the raising of the money.

Forty teams of six men each were organized for the drive, Mr. Blossom said, twenty under his direction and twenty under C. T. Brooks.

A list of 3,000 names of prospects was provided by W. R. Woodford, chairman of the ways and means committee of Cuyahoga county and from this list each team captain selected the names of fifty to seventy-five men to be canvassed. Some of the cards in the list as furnished by Mr. Woodford were marked with the amount the prospect should give, Mr. Blossom said.

Mr. Blossom, who is director of public welfare of the city of Cleveland, testified that Mr. Woodford asked him last July to head a squad of twenty teams and that the actual work of raising the money was set for the week of August 16. A luncheon was held each day and the general plan of the Red Cross and Liberty Loan drives followed.

"How were these 3,000 prospects picked?" asked Senator Reed.

"They were chosen because they were known republicans," Mr. Blossom explained, "and because it was thought they were able to contribute to the fund."

"You were to get $400,000 in Cuyahoga county alone, although this quota sheet introduced last week by the republican national committee shows the goal for the entire state of Ohio was only $400,000?" Senator Reed continued.

"Yes, sir, that was my understanding."

Clyne May Start Suit

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 8.—United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne announced today that information about presidential campaign expenses has been submitted to him by E. H. Moore, Governor Cox's representative at the senate investigation of the campaign expenditures. Mr. Clyne said he was not ready to announce what action may be taken on this information.

Mr. Clyne said the question of perjury in the testimony of certain witnesses at the senatorial hearing was brought up.

Mr. Clyne and department of justice representatives attended the committee hearing today.

Lord Mayor of Cork Today Enters Upon Twenty-seventh Day of Hunger Strike

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, entered today on the twenty-seventh day of his hunger strike.

Reports from Brixton prison, where he is incarcerated, stated he was a little brighter today, but much weaker and more exhausted. It was added he had passed a fairly good night.

A bulletin issued at noon by the Irish Self-Determination league said: "The lord mayor suddenly got much weaker. The doctors are very anxious and have forbidden his relatives to converse with him."

Britain Asks Guarantee

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Guarantees that attacks upon police in Ireland must cease are necessary before the government can consider the liberation of Terence MacSwiney, and other hunger strikers, says the London Times today in discussing Premier Lloyd George's views on the subject. "The policy of leniency has been tried three times already," says the newspaper. "The very men let out of prison engaged in fresh conspiracies and started murdering police in Ireland all over again."

The newspaper declares the government must either protect the forces in Ireland or withdraw them altogether. It points out that Premier Lloyd George made a distinction between the Sinn Fein, which is not a criminal organization, and the republican army, "which is striving by force to dismember the British empire."

GOVERNMENT ACTS TO CHECK ILLICIT MAKING OF LIQUOR

Will Tighten Restrictions on Sale of Stills to Check up on Moonshiners

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—In an effort to end illicit distilling of intoxicating liquor, the treasury department decided today to tighten regulations around the sale of stills and add another check to its means of racing down their users.

Manufacturers of stills are required to report all sales, the names of purchasers and locations where the stills are to be set up. Names of manufacturers must be securely attached to the articles sold and sworn statements must be obtained from purchasers setting forth the purposes for which the stills are to be used.

Until the manufacturer has complied with the new regulations he is not permitted to dispose of the still. Sales cannot be finally consummated until a permit has been granted by the local internal revenue authorities.

JIM REFUSES TO CONCEDE HE'S BEATEN

Declares Votes from the Country Will Restore His Lead; Madison Observers Give Him Still a Chance

VOTE SHOWS THOMPSON LOSING TO OSHKOSH WET

Loses Close Counties by Votes Taken from Him by McHenry; Lenroot Still Gaining

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—Additional returns in the republican contest came in slowly this afternoon from yesterday's statewide primary, but served to increase the lead of Senator Irvine L. Lenroot over his opponents, James Thompson of La Crosse and A. C. McHenry of Oshkosh. Returns compiled by the Milwaukee Journal from 1170 precincts out of 2379 in the state gave: Lenroot, 96,895; Thompson, 75,923; McHenry, 30,513.

John J. Blaine, who was supported by Senator Robert M. La Follette, had cut down the lead of Roy P. Wilcox, when 1058 precincts were heard from, to a little more than 1,000 votes, and supporters of Blaine were confidently claiming his nomination for governor on the republican ticket, stating that the rural vote would more than overcome the Wilcox lead, obtained in the voting of the cities. Returns from these 1058 precincts which included 240 from Milwaukee county, gave: Wilcox, 60,698; Blaine, 59,626; with the other four candidates for the republican nomination trailing far in the rear.

BLAINE for governor, Lenroot for United States senator.

This was the probable line-up on the head of the republican ticket through the state on the face of early returns from all parts of the state from yesterday's primary election.

Blaine's nomination, however, seems to be more of a certainty than that of Lenroot. At noon both Wilcox and Lenroot were in the lead in the gubernatorial and senatorial fights, but where-as Blaine was gaining on Wilcox, as the country returns came in, Thompson was not running up with him and the Lenroot lead had increased from some 8,000 at 7 o'clock this morning to about 16,000 at noon.

On the same returns Blaine had cut Wilcox's early lead of nearly 5,000 by about 1,000, and was increasing his gains in the outside districts.

James Thompson, however, by no means concedes the senatorial victory to his opponent. He said today that the country returns would show him gaining, and that if the returns arrived in were from the cities he would win.

Observers in Madison not connected with the campaign of either Lenroot or Thompson gave Thompson still a chance to win.

Unofficial and incomplete returns from all parts of the state gave the following counties to Lenroot, although some of them, notably Sauk, were said to be doubtful:

Waukesha, Rock, Walworth, Columbia, Richland, Sauk, Marquette, Ashland, Winnebago, Douglas, Grant, Milwaukee, Iowa, Green, Pierce, Monroe, Racine, Brown.

Blaine McHenry

Local political experts today declared that if Thompson is finally beaten responsibility belongs to Mayor McHenry of Oshkosh, the wet candidate. "In the eastern part of the state McHenry cut in heavily in counties that Thompson carried easily at the last campaign, and threw the balance to Lenroot. In Racine county Thompson ran third, Lenroot winning the county. It was declared that practically all of McHenry's vote came from Thompson, since Lenroot was classed as a dry and had little, avowedly wet vote to lose."

HOUSING PROBLEM IN NEW YORK MORE ACUTE THAN EVER

Encouragement of Apartment House Building Occupies Attention of Law Makers

NEW YORK.—New York City faces a housing situation this fall no less acute than that which last spring caused an army of tenants to march on Albany demanding new rent laws. Last spring the immediate problem which faced legislators was passage of measures which would protect tenants in a city where every apartment was at a premium, from grasping landlords. Next fall the problem which is expected to engage attention of state law makers is the encouragement of apartment house building.

The housing shortage this summer has been the cause for sundry hearings by state and municipal bodies. At each was heard the cry "We must have more apartments." But so far there is little prospect that this demand will be met.

Experts have given it as their opinion that next fall, instead of having more flats, New York's meager supply will be depleted by several hundred. The reason, they said, was that demand for office space, especially on Manhattan, had caused many property owners to raze old apartments for construction of commercial establishments which they rent at higher prices. Some experts asserted that rent laws passed last spring, designed to check the meteoric rise of rents, had tended to check building of apartment houses.

The building trend was well illustrated last month when plans for new structures filed in Manhattan showed to what little extent property owners were going toward filling the need for 160,000 additional apartments. Construction of only one apartment house and one single dwelling were filed, whereas five theaters, 115 garages and three loft structures are contemplated.

Normal construction in this city, according to Tenement House Commissioner Mann, is 23,000 apartments a year, in addition to two family houses and hotel apartments. Four thousand a year has been the average, however, for the last four years.

Various plans have been suggested for encouragement of home-building, including co-operative ventures and use of the city's sinking fund for loans on bonds or mortgages. The latter plan has been advocated by Mayor Hyland, who is seeking to establish the legality of such action.

NORTHERN ITALY SEVERELY SHAKEN BY EARTH TREMOR

Scores Believed to Have Died in Quake Which Strikes Region About Florence

ROME, Sept. 8.—Scores of lives are believed lost in the district north of Florence which was severely shaken by an earthquake yesterday. As meager reports come in the extent of the disaster seems to be growing.

The territory violently disturbed seems to be Florence at the southern end, and Modena at the northern end. It extends along the Apennine coast and runs over the Apennines eastward for 100 miles. This district includes many populous towns, and no tidings have been received from many of them. Reports show that buildings crumbled beneath the strain of the convulsion of the earth.

At Pizzano, a town of 17,000 inhabitants almost every building was damaged and many were destroyed. In the postoffice, which collapsed, were the entire staff, Solera, Marchitima and Monti were partially destroyed. Rivesano, Pomi and Montignoro are reported in ruins, while in Marina and Carrara many structures collapsed.

Panic prevails at Lucca, and from Garfagnana and Limestone came reports of lives lost. Serious damage was done in the Frignano district, and at Frassinoro, Pievepelago and Sant Andrea were badly damaged, but the number of victims has not been ascertained.

The village of Vigetta was destroyed.

A Veteran of the North Sea

A veteran North sea plaice, probably twenty years old, recently ended a romantic career in the treacherous coils of a trawl net. The fish, a large one, says an official report from Whitehall, was found in a catch landed at Lowestoft. It was the second time it had been caught, the first being sixteen years ago, as shown by an identification disc on it which bore the date 1904. This disc also showed that the first captors were Germans belonging to the Kiel and Helgoland Scientific Fishery commission, who marked it in accordance with the international scheme of inquiry into the migrations, growth, and age of fish. Caught and released to survive sixteen years' fishing activity and nearly five years of war in the sea, this plaice seems to have had a charmed life. The fishery officials say that "a fish that had been twice caught and had survived the greatest crisis in the history of the sea was deserving of some more dignified ending than that which has in all probability overtaken it."

Public Debate

WANTS TO FIGHT

Sept. 2, 1920, La Crosse, Wis. Editor, Tribune and Leader-Press.

About a week or so ago Secretary Daniels ordered the armored cruiser "Pittsburgh," the supply ship "Punahoa" and all United States destroyers then rushing to the Baltic, to go on to Revel in Eschonia, instead of to Danzig.

Danzig is supposed to be a "free city" but a British fleet has absolute control of its "freedom." The allied high commissioner of Danzig, Sir Reginald Towers, is no more than a British official and simply keeps guard over this new outpost of John Bull, the slickest grabber that ever grabbed.

A little while ago the French asked permission to land munitions in Danzig but Sir Reginald refused and he's not a bit more friendly to the Americans either, although our pro-British newspapers still rave about Anglo-American friendship.

The explanation American officials give is that they hoped to prevent any clash with Britain. Do you Americans always have to step aside for Britain? Are we always going to let John Bull brush us aside like a dead weed or let him walk all over us when he feels like it? It is about time that we Americans and the rest of the world stood up to that cowardly bully and handed him some of his own medicine.

A red-blooded American.

THE ELECTION IN WISCONSIN

THE votes cast yesterday deal with a tremendous issue. They utter the majority opinion of this state as between private and public ownership. Some who voted with the radicals do not realize the existence of this issue. There is a disagreement among the masses of those who do understand as to how far public ownership shall go. Even the radical leaders are not a unit upon this point. However, that the movement is projected as to all public utilities, including banking, does not lack evidence in the propaganda of its proponents.

Another great issue lies within the field of distribution of farm products. The public is interested in marketing along the line of direct, unimpeded and cheap movement of produce from the farm to the consumer, and in that respect the project holds out hope of cheaper and better living. But underlying the surface propaganda of this movement is the thought of many producers that the proposed agency of economy shall be converted into a food trust in which prices can be controlled by commanding the movement of produce at its source.

Through all these things one sees first the strivings of people generally to better their conditions, but not obscure in the background are the designs of large groups to turn the movement in the interest of this or that special advantage to their respective members.

And so we may have our problem transferred from handling the individual monopolist, to the immensely more difficult one of dealing with great divisions of the mass engaged in this or that monopolistic enterprise.

Wisconsin can not swing the nation to radical ideas, but it can become a law unto itself. Taken together the socialists, nonpartisan league and labor candidates will probably have a fair chance to win a majority of the legislature. None of these is strong enough to get anywhere alone, but should they find means of trading votes, each may be able to get a substantial portion of its program enacted into law. If that occurs, Wisconsin will find itself under the control of government by special groups, a truly novel experience, and one which to some extent may upset the affairs of the commonwealth.

Should the socialist-nonpartisan league groups succeed in capturing the machinery of the republican party to the extent of gaining complete state control, grave responsibility will devolve upon Senator La Follette for what happens, for he has made their victory possible. We all know there are barnacles upon the hull of the ship of state, but since we are all passengers it will not do to capsize the craft in mid-stream to get rid of them. The skipper will have to see to it that the ship is lifted upon the ways before its bottom is scraped.

COMMENDATORY SELFISHNESS

WHEN you give a blind beggar a quarter, do you feel a certain satisfaction, an inner glow, a bit of a crook in your elbow caused by putting yourself on the back?

Doesn't that indicate that your gift was a gift to yourself and that you really bought a quarter's worth of "glow"?

Pure selfishness, wasn't it? But don't condemn yourself too severely, until we see whether any deed apparently good may not be traced to selfishness.

It is related of Abraham Lincoln that he drove past a pig caught under a fence and after he had gone some distance, he turned back to release the pig. His companion commented upon his kindness of spirit and Lincoln responded that it wasn't kindness at all, for he would have felt uncomfortable the rest of the day, if he had not released the pig. The kindness was to himself.

The martyrs of the faith, even the Great Martyr Himself, may have been inspired by a subtle selfishness. They knew it was more endurable to die, even by torture, than to live untrue to themselves and to the Cause which possessed them. They, therefore, chose the course which gave the greater comfort to Self.

But maybe all this argues that Selfishness is not evil.

Of all the words of Shakespeare, none appeal more surely than the words of the prating Polonius—

"To thine Own Self be true! Thou canst not then be false to any man."

MODERN SLAVERY

BOLSHEVIST sympathizers, in Russia and elsewhere, are prone to call American workmen "slaves of capitalism." Lenin is much given to addressing advice to workers of other countries. He begins, or ends (or both) his speech with something like this:

"Rise ye slaves! Strike off the shackles of capitalism! Be free men!"

Yes, Lenin, and Trotsky, too, have had considerable to say about the "enslavement of workers" in America.

Just how little truth there is in the Lenin slave argument American workers themselves know. There is, however, something substantial in Lenin's talk about the enslavement of workers. The shoe, though, is on the other foot.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, a noted British advocate of real progress, returned from a Russian expedition. She saw Lenin, and saw the people over whom Lenin rules. Of the bolshevik czar she said:

"He is the prince of slaves and the slave of dogs."

He conscripts workers, all workers, men, women and children. He tells them how long they shall work, and what pay they shall receive. He tells them where they shall labor, and how. He tells them there is no God, and the written word of Marx is their bible. He tells them how much they may eat, and when. He tells them where they may live, and how.

Has there in all the history of all time been a slavemaster who possessed greater power over his slaves?

Why, Lenin even tells his slaves when they may laugh!

WATER POWER

THE richest nation in the world in water-power resources is the United States.

Next come the Scandinavian countries.

The only way the United States can figure out to develop its power resources is to lease them out to private capitalists who can make a profit on their operation.

But Sweden does it differently. Sweden operates its own waterpower sites.

In 1919, the Swedish administration of power sites had a gross income amounting to 13,897,649 crowns. It expended 7,622,750 crowns, leaving a nice little net profit of over 6,000,000 crowns. Nearly every power plant now in operation shows a profit to the government, and most of the expenditures are on account of additions and new construction work on power sites that have not yet been completed.

Both the donkey and the elephant look a bit weird with those borrowed moose horns tied to their heads.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Progressives, led by Senator La Follette, scored a splendid success in La Crosse county in this year's primaries.

Four carloads of stock were shipped this morning from Grand Crossing to the Chicago stock yards.

In their petition to the common council for a "Great White Way", members of the La Crosse Merchants' Protective association pledge themselves to stand the expense of installing the lamps if the city will pay for the current. Members of the committee on special lights will meet this evening to consider the city's side of the question.

R. C. McCaleb, manager of the social democrat campaign, declared this morning that the number of socialist votes in this campaign trebled that of any previous campaign.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

All schools in the city are very much overcrowded. The one in the Sixth district is so crowded that it has been necessary to buy the two-room building on Sixth and Winnebago streets. It will be moved to the Sixth ward school grounds and will accommodate about one hundred pupils.

Congressman Esch received information today that a delegation of 300 people from Sparta will be here Sept. 10 when Governor Theodore Roosevelt is to speak.

Farmers are complaining that they are losing many hogs from hog cholera. Health officers have taken steps to stop the spread of the disease by killing and cremating the animals found to have the disease.

Attorney Wolfe returned to the city last night from Madison where he argued the brick paving cases before the supreme court.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The citizens of Midway were awakened about midnight last night by the ringing of bells and shouts of people. C. L. Hood's stables had caught fire. Three valuable horses were burned.

Bishop C. H. Fowler of San Francisco will preside at the annual conference of the M. E. church to be held in North La Crosse.

All fire boxes in the city were tested today to make sure that none was damaged during the storm.

A merry-go-round owned by a north side man, caught fire and was completely burned at the fair grounds last night.

Hon. Roger Q. Mills, democratic orator and statesman, has consented to speak in Wisconsin this fall and will include La Crosse in his program.

NO CRIME TO CHANGE YOUR MIND

BY B. RAY BAKER

Melvin Colter was dressing for the big event of his life when the telephone downstairs interfered. Just why he thought some one was calling him he couldn't explain. Perhaps it was because he feared it.

Sure enough, Mrs. McGivney shrieked up the stairs and told him he was wanted; so for the present he abandoned the task of making a refractory bow the look presentable, put on his smoking jacket, adjusting the collar around his bare neck, and went down, gripped by a feeling of foreboding.

"Hello, Mel," said the sweet voice of his bride-to-be. "Say, Mel, I can't marry you today."

The worst had happened. The foreboding was well founded. For two years Melvin had been trying to marry Evelyn Moyer, and up to two months ago he never had succeeded in even proposing. Always something had intervened at the psychological moment. On one occasion when he was endeavoring to tell her how dismal life would be without her, the house had caught fire and caused a postponement of the attempt. Another time, in the woods during a spring ramble, a snake had rustled in the bushes and caused Evelyn to flee while Melvin was framing sugar-coated sentences. Again, they were paddling a canoe, which began to leak while he was preparing to unfold his heart's secret. But at last he had succeeded in unbundling himself, Evelyn had made him joyful by consenting, and the marriage date was set.

All the time Melvin was apprehensive for the Fates would interfere. The cause of his apprehension was his knowledge of Evelyn's volatile moods. She was forever changing her mind about things. She had intended going to a conservatory for a finishing course in music, but at the last moment had given it up. She had a trip to the Pacific coast planned, to visit an aunt in Portland, and at the station, with the ticket in her hand, had decided not to go. It was Evelyn's one big fault, this changeableness, and Melvin feared it would intrude on his matrimonial programme.

But the day of the ceremony dawned with a bright sky and everything looked serene. The wedding, which was to be simple with only close relatives and friends attending, was scheduled for high noon, and the bride and groom were to leave Jefferson City shortly after for Chicago, there to take a steamer for Mackinac Island. Melvin having obtained a position as wireless operator at the new station at the famous resort. The boat trip and the summer on the island would be the honeymoon.

Yes, everything seemed serene at last, until the telephone bell rang.

"But Evelyn, what's the matter?" Melvin protested. "I'm all dressed."

"I've just changed my mind," said Evelyn sweetly. "It's no crime to change your mind, is it? This is Friday, and it's unlikely to start anything on Friday."

Melvin actually was on the verge of tears when he turned to his room. He felt sad, exasperated and angry all at the same time, with each emotion striving to outdo the others. He tore the bothersome tie to shreds, stripped off his best clothes and threw them into a suitcase, and put on a business-like checked suit. He was undetermined whether to take the train without going to see Evelyn, but decided not to.

She was sweetly adamant over her decision against marriage at present. "I've just changed my mind, that's all. You'll have to go to Mackinac alone, and I'll follow after, and we'll get married up there—may be."

Melvin gave up argument and reconciled himself as best he could. He couldn't postpone the trip without losing his job, so he left that afternoon. The weather was perfect for the late trip, and he would have enjoyed it if only Evelyn had been with him.

"I've a good mind to give her up," he told himself more than once. "She's too changeable. I can't get used to it. When I decide to do a thing I do it, come what may."

For several days after his arrival on the island Melvin refrained from writing to Evelyn. He did a lot of thinking and came to the conclusion he had been wrong.

"She needs some bossing," he decided, and he sat down and wrote a letter in which, among other things, he said:

"The Mohawk leaves Chicago next Friday morning and will arrive here Saturday. You are to be a passenger on the Mohawk. There's no argument about it. These are orders, see?"

After the letter had gone he worried considerably for fear he had made it too strong, but two days later he received a telegram reading:

"Am leaving Chicago Friday morning on Mohawk, as ordered—Evelyn."

With a pronounced sensation of triumph and satisfaction Melvin read the message and folded it carefully and placed it in a pocket for future reference.

"She'll know who's going to be boss," he said.

But Melvin's triumph was short lived, and his feeling of satisfaction was superseded by dismay and mental misery. He awoke Saturday morning to find a fierce storm raging, and as far as he could see across the straits white-caps were leaping.

"A fine day for her trip," Melvin mused dolefully as he went to his wireless station. Scarcely had he donned his headphones when his ears picked the startling message from the air.

"S. O. S. S. O. S. Got off course struck rock, sinking. Fifty miles off Frankfort, S. O. S. S. O. S."

An icy hand seemed to clutch at Melvin's heart and stop its beating. For several minutes he was powerless to act.

"I'll relay the message broadcast," he decided, and was preparing to do so when out of the sky came an answer to the cry of distress.

"Mohawk, picked up your S. O. S. Rushing to rescue. Iowa, 100 miles off Milwaukee."

Then came another:

"On way to help Mohawk, Manitoba, twenty miles off Traverse City."

Quickly came this flash in response: "Sinking fast all pumps working, launching lifeboats. Mohawk, hurry, hurry."

Like an impatient audience watching a film tragedy, except that he was hearing rather than seeing, Melvin stood at his post all day, suffering a nightmare of suspense.

He heard the Mohawk's pleas for assistance repeated again and again, and the encouraging answers from the rescue ships; then finally came hours of silence which suddenly was broken by word from Mackinac City: "Save passengers from lifeboats." Sea now calm.

Through a window, as he stood at his instruments, Melvin observed that the white-caps had vanished and the sea was shining brightly. The ferry-board from Mackinac City was approaching, making its way indolently over the smooth surface of the straits.

A half hour later the Iowa again sent forth a message to the world. "List of survivors picked up from the Mohawk." Then followed a number

The Biggest Little Paper in the World

Edited by John H. Miller

STUDENT-EDITED PAPER AS PART OF DAILY NEWS IS SUGGESTED BY CREAKY

(Third Day of Story)

Captain Newton, editor of the Daily News, was always in his office early, but next morning he had a visitor that was earlier. There sat Creaky.

"Captain," said Creaky, "I'm afraid that we can't start a paper of our own now. It will cost too much. But I have a plan to show you."

Creaky pulled out of his side pocket a copy of last evening's News. He turned to page five, and there, covering the upper left quarter of the page, was a sheet of white paper pasted over the print. On this sheet were pasted four clippings and across the top, four columns wide, was printed the heading, "THE WINNEBAGO SCHOOL NEWS."

Little Paper in Big One

"Look at these three news stories, Captain. They are almost a column long. I found them last evening scattered through this paper. They are school news. Here also is a section of a continued story written especially for boys and girls. Now, why can't you put such things as these in the same place in your paper each day and let us help you edit that section as a special school newspaper, a little newspaper made up as a part of your bigger one?"

The Captain looked and rubbed his chin.

"Well," and the Captain looked some more.

Creaky had the instinct of a true salesman. He knew enough to meet an objection before his "prospect" had actually brought it up.

Promptness Promised

"I know, Captain Newton, that your paper comes out on schedule. I would not want to undertake to edit this section of your paper unless I was absolutely sure that our material would always be in plenty of time ahead. You wouldn't have to wait on us."

"Have you talked it over with your principal and the superintendent?" the editor asked.

"No, sir," replied Creaky, "but I will."

He did, and two mornings later an assembly of the whole high school was called.

Wrist Wrestling

A variation of Indian hand wrestling is wrist wrestling.

Any number can play it. Take a long strong pole and line up an equal number of players on each side. All grab the pole, firmly arranging the hands so that every other hand is that of a player on the same side.

The trick, and the object, is to twist the pole so that it slips in the hands of the opposing team. This is a feat that will develop considerable strength of wrist. It can be played by either boys or girls.

It is all very good to wave a pennant and cheer when others are playing in a great football game, but now and then all of us should get into the games ourselves. Write to The Boys and Girls Newspaper, telling about games open to all, such as the one described above.

This section is not for the boys alone. We invite girls to write in about their school games.

HOWARD ARCHER SAVES LITTLE GIRL FROM BITE OF POISON TARANTULA

(True Story of a Real Boy)

While working in his father's grocery on a recent Saturday afternoon, Howard Archer, Fresno, Calif., brought out a new bunch of bananas.

A little girl, a child about four years old, put out her hand to feel the "nice big 'nannas" when suddenly Howard saw a huge tarantula, crawling out from beneath the very banana the little girl was about to touch. Howard seized the child's hand and drew it back.

Quickly cautioning the mother, Howard took a long banana from another bunch, poked the tarantula so that it fell on the floor, and then quickly brought down upon it a 30-pound tin can of lard that was standing close by.

The tarantula's bite is often fatal, and the lad's cool-headedness undoubtedly saved the little girl's life, and prevented a panic in the store.

GIRLHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS WOMEN

"Mother I have been to Betty Logan's birthday party. I danced the minuet and I met many of the 'world's' people," a little Quaker maid shamefacedly confessed.

She had started out that afternoon with her playmate, Will Rogers, to visit her aunt, who lived on the other side of Philadelphia. But temptation had overcome her and she had gone to Betty Logan's party, although dancing and worldly pleasures were contrary to the beliefs of the Friends.

"I made Will Rogers promise he would not tell on me, but at sight of these sitting here, Mother, I knew I could not deceive thee," she said contritely.

The little Quakeress was Dolly Payne, who as Dolly Madison (1768-1849) was mistress of the White House for sixteen years, a social distinction no other woman has held. She became as famous for her simplicity as for her charm and grace as a hostess.

LA CROSSE

For the last time today Blanche Sweet will vamp her Wall Street lion into the woods and there tell him who and what he is, only in the end to find that she is in love with him. Starting tomorrow for three days King Vidor will present his latest masterpiece, "The Jack Knife Man." The plot of this delightful little story deals with a little known locale in this country and its quaint characters—a shanty boat colony along the banks of the Mississippi, while the central character, old Peter, "the Jack Knife Man," has been drawn from life by the author—being a characterization of his uncle. The story is a lovely little tale full of delicious comedy and pathos. It introduces many new characters to the screen, one of the most unique being the "crying woman," a stage personage that we have not seen since the "weeping widow" in "The Three Twins." In direct contrast there is a slaying tramp who figures prominently in the action of the story. "You Wouldn't Believe It" a Mack Sennett comedy completes the bill.

MAJESTIC

Last times today, Bryant Washburn in "The Six Best Cellars." Starting tomorrow Ethel Clayton in "Crooked Streets" and "The Music Memory Test," will occupy the boards for the last half of the week. One surprise follows another in "Crooked Streets." The scene is in Shanghai and the central figure is a resourceful young American girl, who is serving as a secretary to an alleged collector of antique vases. In reality he is engaged in the opium-smuggling traffic, and his guilt is established in the most dramatic manner and only after his youthful secretary has been involved in all sorts of romantic adventures. Jack Holt is the leading man. The Beyerstedt's in picking the music for the Music Memory Test have dug pretty deep, and all those who attend the shows at the Majestic the last half of the week will have a chance to hear some of the songs their mothers used to sing. The guessing slips can be obtained at any of the following stores or at the Majestic, C. A. Reun, "The Retail Drug Store," Federal Baking Co., E. W. Parker, Mutchow and Press, and the La Crosse Steam Laundry. The slips are free for the asking, and they entitle you to a chance on the various prizes that are to be given away each day.

BIJOU

Mac Murray in "What Am I Bid" is the attraction at the Bijou today and Thursday. It is a peculiar story, in which Miss Murray plays a dual role, also showing the auction block in full swing for sacrificing of our beautiful white girls in the white slave market. A really sensational picture, with all the pep and daring Miss Murray can put into it.

CASINO

Priscilla Dean in "Pretty Smooth" with Miss Dean cast as the pretty maid crook certainly makes this crook play stand out from the rest. It is a new and entirely different sort of picture that everybody enjoys. It will keep you guessing until the end who is the real crook, the climax brings some surprises.

STRAND

Monroe Salisbury in "The Blinding Trail" at the Strand today is a story of the great north woods country, where might is right. There are plenty of thrills and action in this one. To complete the bill, tenth episode of "Hidden Dangers."

RIALTO

"My Lady's Garter" with an all star cast will be the attraction at the Rialto for today only. It is a mystery story by the famous author, Jacques Futrelle. A dainty jeweled circle was stolen. Its trail is romance, robbery, blackmail, daring deeds and thrills innumerable. Five breathless acts of wildly exciting adventure!

BERLIN ABANDONS PROPOSAL TO MAKE PORCELAIN MONEY

Coins Would be Unwieldy and Easily Imitated Claim Experts

BERLIN—The proposal to manufacture porcelain coin to the amount of 60,000,000 marks for the German republic has been abandoned. Some already had been produced at the Meissen manufactory and were disks of terra cotta color unglazed and unimprinted but of faultless artistic finish. Experts of the Reichsbank, however, advised the government against their adoption, mainly on the ground that they would be unwieldy in the pocket purse, could not be easily distinguished by touch and could not be counted with existing counting machinery.

One of the most important points raised in opposition to their use was that they might be imitated without particular difficulty except for a degree of hardness which could only be ascertained by tests by experts in porcelain.

LAKE MICHIGAN IS FIELD FOR STUDY OF SUBMARINE TACTICS

Undersea-boat Chasers Assigned to Chicago Great Lakes Station

CHICAGO—Lake Michigan will become a field for practice of tactics used in running down submarines, providing the navy department grants a request from naval reserve officers here for the commissioning of two more submarine chasers.

One chaser, the S. C.—413, is already in service here and four more are lying in the North Avenue basin ready to be put in commission after slight repairs. The naval reserve officers hope to commission a full unit of three chasers to carry out anti-submarine tactics which they learned when attached to the Plymouth patrol in the North sea.

Lieut. Nathaniel Rubinkam, who is in charge of the anti-submarine drill here, has asked for full equipment of wireless, radio phone, listening devices, guns and depth charges for three boats.

If Lieut. Rubinkam's plans are carried out Great Lakes freighters downbound from Superior with ore or grain will take the place of submarines as prey. With hydrophone listening devices the propellers of the big freighters can be heard under water a dozen miles away and the "mosquito fleet," keeping in touch with each other by radiophone, will be able to locate and chart the ships.

Many Chicago reservists, who find it hard to get away for the usual fifteen days summer cruise on the large training ships, are keeping in practice by taking the S. C.—413 out for one day practice trips. Hardly a Sunday passes without the chaser shoving off for a cruise up the lake, and her weather beaten battle grey has become a familiar sight in nearly every port as far north as Ludington and Mackinac.

NORTH SIDE GIRL ENGAGED TO MARRY MINNEAPOLIS MAN

MR. AND MRS. John S. Tuttle, 1621 Charles street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Esther Mary, to Lawrence John Munroe of Minneapolis. The marriage will take place in October.

MISS ESTHER TUTTLE, 1621 Charles street, entertained at dinner Monday evening, when covers were laid for seven. The out of town guests were Miss Helen Dove of Bangor, and Miss Lucile Davies of Ballston Lake, N. Y., who for the past four years has been roommate of the hostess at school in Minneapolis.

FIFTY guests were entertained today at the Country Club at Luncheon. Mrs. Joseph B. Funke was hostess to fifteen.

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Nina Sonoma of Chico, Cal., formerly of Woodruff, Wis., and Mr. Oscar V. Kelly of Reedsburg, formerly of this city, which took place September first at Antigo, Wis., is announced. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Webster, Rev. S. T. Tink performing the double ring service. Thirty-five guests attended. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are now spending their honeymoon in the northern part of Wisconsin, and after September tenth will be at home at Reedsburg, where the bridegroom is proprietor of a moving picture house.

Flaxseed For Eyes "How swollen your right eye is. Imogene! Have you something in it?"

"Yes, I think so, I asked Mary to look. She said she thought she could see something but wasn't sure. And I don't believe in trying to take things out of the eye with a handkerchief. I've heard that, sometimes, it makes the eye worse."

"That's true unless the handkerchief is perfectly clean and delicately handled. But I can take that piece of dust out of your eye without hurting you. Take this little flaxseed, slip it under the lower lid and let it slide around. There is a special kind of nutritious substance on a flaxseed which becomes very sticky when moistened by the eye and it will catch any foreign substance at once. It nearly always works and it can never do any harm."

BONE-DRY CANADA, SOON IS WARNING

WINNIPEG, Canada—Canada is about to cease being bartender for her American cousins.

Since the Great drought enveloped the United States, Canada has been the Mecca of the thirsty. It is here they have come singly, in pairs, in parties and in conventions. Rum runners have been busy conveying the precious juices of pleasure from partially-wet Canada to reasonably-dry United States.

In Fact Also

Now Canada, in the law books as dry, is about to become so in fact.

When the votes are counted during the provincial elections in the next few months, prophets say there's not much doubt but what a majority will declare for the referendum doing away with inter-provincial liquor traffic.

With the exception of Quebec, where beer and light wines may be retailed, no liquor can be sold legally in any Canadian province. But, since this dryness is all in the local option form and since under the law a province cannot restrict dominion commerce, Canadians have been able to obtain all the liquor they desired by buying it outside the province and having it shipped to them.

To End Farce

That made local option a farce and now, say those who should know, Canada is about to end the farce and enter the bone-dry list.

It is an ancient maxim. Indorsed by wets and dries alike, that where there's liquor there liquor will be sold. That's the case in Canada today. There's always a willing bell boy or a waiter with a desire to please and there's more blind swine than there are pigs with natural parents.

Hotels and railways have enjoyed a rushing tourist trade, and it is said that hardly a man crosses the line back to the United States who isn't wiping his mouth with the back of his hand and whose baggage doesn't have to be searched with care.

All Over Soon

But it's to be over soon. By early fall Canadian provinces will have ratified the referendum, it is said, and the Manitoba government is pledged to abolish the "buy it outside and ship it in" traffic if the referendum carries.

So it looks like a long, long dry spell for Canada and her little playmates across the line.

SPIRIT HIS MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMAN

LONDON—The most beautiful woman he had ever seen was a spirit with "wonderful eyes," according to Count Milgostovich, former Serbian minister to London. The count added he had had conversations with the spirits of the murdered Queen Draga and King Alexander of Serbia, and with Tsar Dushan, who died in the Middle Ages.

Ruffled

"Now, ma'am," cried the cross-examining lawyer, "was the defendant's air when, as you allege, he promised to marry you, perfectly serious, or was it, on the contrary, jocular and full of levity?"

"It was all ruffled," replied the plaintiff, "with 'im rannlu' 'is 'auds through it!'"—Tit-Bits.

YANKEE BAPTISTS LEADING FIGHT ON CHOLERA IN CHINA

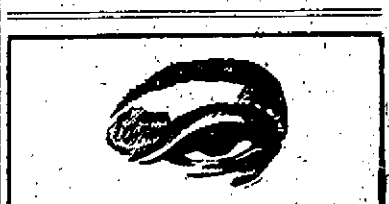

Battling Pestilence at its Source They Write Home to Mission Heads

NEW YORK—American Baptist medical missionaries and students from the Union University Missionary Medical school are aiding the Chinese authorities in fighting a severe cholera epidemic in Chengtu, Szechuan Province, West China. W. P. Lippard, secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Missionary society, has just received a message from Dr. W. R. Morse of Chengtu, stating that the provincial officials called upon the French doctors of the Pasteur Institute and Dr. Morse and Dr. Allan, of the China Medical Missionary association, to help fight the epidemic. The Chinese officials accepted the advice of these medical men and placarded Chengtu with instructions for preventive measures. Dr. Morse's message stated: "We are here where plague and epidemic and pestilences begin. Were Asiatic cholera entering San Francisco the American nation would spend millions gladly to stop it, but here, for hundreds or thousands we can kill the trouble before it can raise its head away from home. We are doing what we can with an inadequate force and little money, but we are putting our schools and pupils to a very real test and we'll win out!" Secretary Lippard stated that as a result of the Baptist New World Movement it is hoped to enlarge the medical school and hospital at Chengtu and also to send approximately eighty-five missionaries to the several missions in China during the next four years.

The Ostrich Telephone. When the ostrich in the egg is ready to appear in the world, it can be heard picking the shell and this is called "telephoning" by the ostrich growers of the west. When the head bird hears this she watches a while, if the little one is unable to get out she crushes the shell carefully and helps matters in this manner.

SOKOLS ARE COMING TO LA CROSSE FOR NATIONAL MEETING

This City is Awarded Next Big Gathering of Athletes at Omaha Convention

The famous "Sokols" are coming to La Crosse.

The next national athletic meet of the Catholic Gymnastic Union is coming to this city. When the local delegation of athletes of the Catholic Gymnastic Union of America left for Omaha a few days ago, they had been provided with banners, pennants and badges by the Advertising Club and convention bureau of the Chamber of Commerce of La Crosse. To insure if possible the securing of the next national meet for the metropolis of western Wisconsin. Last night a telegram arrived conveying the glad news that La Crosse had been chosen. The "Sokols" consist of a series of athletic events in which members of the Union from every state compete and is held every three years. District meets are held in intervening years. The local lodge has a strong and enthusiastic membership and the delegates went to Omaha determined to secure the next meet if it could possibly be done.

Among other arguments used was that La Crosse, named after one of the most famous of games, was a town of the true sporting spirit. Another was that nowhere else in the middle west was there such a wide variety of matchless scenery, both river and hills. And still another that La Crosse was rapidly becoming known as a good town for conventions. The athletes did their work well and 1923 will witness the gathering here of more than 600 trained men, in novel and highly interesting sports. Meantime it is hoped to revive the ancient game of Lacrosse and also to give additional stimulus to athletics, so that there may be held a week of athletics on land and river which will surpass anything ever seen on the upper Mississippi.

ditional returns received today from yesterday's state-wide primary increased the lead of Senator Irvine L. Lennor in his race for the republican nomination for United States senator, but brought to light that many more returns will have to be tabulated before anything of a definite nature can be ascertained on the republican contest for the nomination for governor.

Returns from 769 precincts of 2379 in the state for the senatorship gave Lennor, 62,250; Thompson, 46,354; McHenry, 19,054. Included in this tabulation which was made by the Milwaukee Journal were 240 precincts from Milwaukee county. This showed the junior senator leading in both Milwaukee county and in the state outside of Milwaukee.

Wilcox Still Ahead
While Roy P. Wilcox of Eau Claire ran strong in Milwaukee county and for a time led the field of six contestants outside the county, yet later returns showed John J. Blaine of Boscobel to be gaining in strength in the outstate precincts and placed the race in doubt today. It had practically narrowed down, however, to a contest between Wilcox and Blaine, the remaining four candidates being so far behind that political experts agreed that they had no further chance.

In 731 precincts out of 2379 in the state the vote stood: Wilcox, 42,241; Blaine, 38,193; Seaman, 26,196; Dithmar, 12,360; Hull, 11,360; Tittmore, 7,921.

Nelson Re-nominated
There were several surprises sprung in the congressional races. In the Third district,

RUSSIAN CHILDREN STRIKE AT HAND THAT FEEDS THEM

Refugees Go on Strike and Leap Over Walls at Staten Island Reservation

REVOLT INSTIGATED BY RED AGENTS IS BELIEF

All Recaptured Before They Escape from Island

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—One hundred of the 960 Russian children who are being taken by the American Red Cross from Siberia to their homes in and near Petrograd went on strike today at Port Wadsworth, Staten Island, and leaping over the walls of the reservation, escaped to the four corners of the island. They were all captured in the end some of them four miles from the reservation.

The children had been unruly for three or four days, and reports had it that agents of the bolsheviks had reached their ears with pleas not to return peacefully to France, from which country there were expected to be sent to their homes in western Russia.

Act in Unison at Signal

No concerted rebellion had been experienced until this morning, when, at a signal from one of the older children, 100 of them declared they were going to strike. They scaled the fences around the reservation and started to run in all directions.

Armed guards and Red Cross nurses put out in pursuit, and most of them were caught before they got very far. But at least twenty-five of them got away. Word was sent to Stapleton police station and reserves were sent out post haste. The twenty-five were caught at St. George and Stapleton, where they were attempting to board ferry boats for Manhattan.

Spit in Faces of Captors

On the return to the fort in the patrol wagons, the children became almost unmanageable. They spit in the faces of the policemen and the nurses and declared they would never go to France. They would not explain their reason and were silent on the rumor that agents of the Reds were responsible for their rebellion.

The Russian children arrived in this city a week ago last Friday after a trip through the Panama canal from San Francisco, where they had arrived on a Japanese steamship.

The Chinese Lily

One of the most successful bulbs for house culture is the Chinese sacred lily, a variety of the narcissus which is imported from China. Place in a dish about three inches deep, put in one and a half inch of sand, and cover with one inch of gravel, white pebbles, or broken marble. On this set the bulbs, and keep the dish full of tepid water with a few pebbles over the bulbs to prevent them from floating. Place them in a sunny window, and they will bloom perfectly. The flowers are white, with a yellow-tinted cup, the stems having a tress, with from three to seven blooms. The Chinese cut away the hard skin on the top of the bulb which seems to facilitate the growth, but in cutting, one must be careful to cut only one-eighth of an inch in depth, or the leaf growth will be injured.

FRANCE'S REMARKABLE PROGRESS IN RECONSTRUCTION ANOTHER MIRACLE OF THE MARNE SAYS NEW YORK MAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—France's "miracle of peace" in her reconstruction "bails the lie that her people are not working," Herbert S. Houston, New York publisher, declares after a period of research at Paris whence he recently returned.

Offering statistics showing remarkable rehabilitation in former devastated regions, where German divisions wrought havoc in industrial, farming and mining sections, Mr. Houston characterizes the recovery of the French people as another "miracle of the Marne." In an article in the current issue of World's Work he says:

Many Schools Reopened.

With government support, including loans totalling 9,609,082,916 francs for agricultural and industrial reconstruction in "devastated departments," the French people have reopened 5,345 out of 6,445 schools existing before the war; built or rebuilt 28,200 temporary wooden and 16,800 permanent stone dwellings, and erected 28,500 wooden barracks to replace houses destroyed; cleared 3,330,000 hectares (a hectare is about 2 1/2 acres) out of 3,550,000 of barbed wire and trenches; employed 1,500 men pumping out and cleaning up flooded mines; rebuilt 475 out of 600 railroad bridges, with 80 more in course of construction; reopened virtually all of 1,100 kilometers of canals destroyed and rebuilt 136 warships and built 28 new ones.

Population Increasing

"Today, less than two years from the Armistice, the population of the invaded regions has grown from less than 2,000,000 to more than 4,000,000 approximately three-quarters of the pre-war population," Mr. Houston says, adding that the return was "not that of the prodigal son."

American committees have done much to help France rebuild, Mr. Houston declares, adding that introduction of farming machinery to the French peasant probably was America's best contribution.

Will Raise Own Food

"As a result to a considerable degree of this mechanical assistance, greatly increasing the production power of the fewer workers, the devastated regions in 1920 will raise enough crops for food," he predicts.

On the industrial reconstruction of France, Mr. Houston asserts that 300,000 workers now are employed in French mills and 2,027 of the 3,308 factories destroyed in the war have resumed production. During the war the destruction in mill centers was very great, 80 percent of the textile mills in Lille having been destroyed; all 40 mills in Armentieres wiped out; in Fourmies only 50,000 bobbins remained out of 700,000 and Roubaix and Turcoing "had the same degree of destruction."

A Chapter of Achievement

"So it was throughout the whole industrial region of the north, the great workshop of France," Mr. Houston says. "The tale of rebuilding, now to be added to Frenchmen's annals, will always be a chapter of achievement, almost as important and vital as the defense against the German invasion."

By 1922, Mr. Houston asserts, France hopes to have her mines producing again, with about 8,000 miners working where 17,000 labored before the war. Within five or six years after that she expects to be working up to three-quarters of before-the-war production.

Nails Falsehood

"The lie that France is not at work should be seared on the lips of everyone who utters it," writes Mr. Houston. "If she is not at work, how can she be reclaiming her fields, rebuilding her roads and houses and her factories and towns, and re-establishing the shattered life over one-fifth of her territory? That she is doing that, anyone can see who visits France or who takes the small trouble to look up the facts. And she is doing it before she has received the indemnity pledged to her by the Peace Treaty and re-pledged again and again by every one of her allies."

PEOPLE ARE URGED TO ATTEND CLINIC GIVEN THIS WEEK

Health Officials Indorse Examinations to be Held Here Friday and Saturday

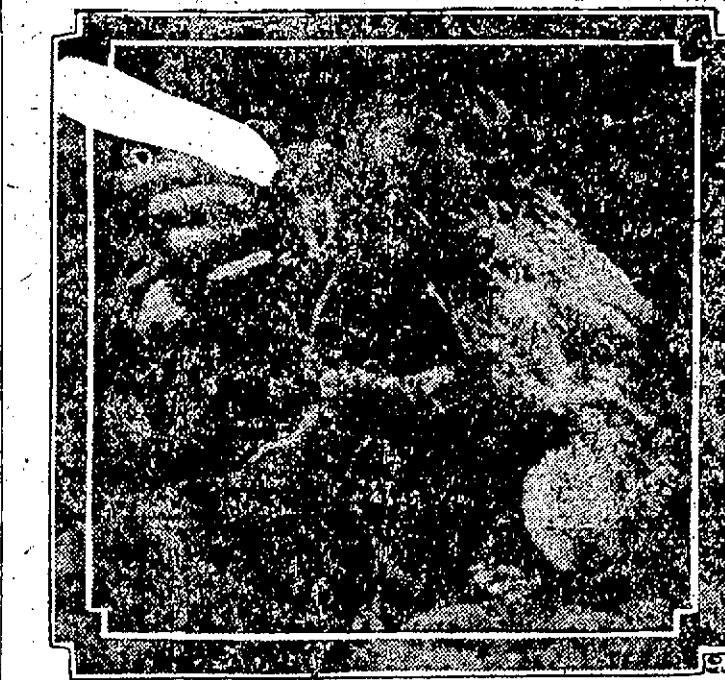

"Health officials know of no such condition as 'weak lungs.' The only thing that makes lungs weak is disease, and the most common disease of the lungs is tuberculosis. If everybody who comes from a family where 'weak lungs' is a tradition and if everybody else whose lungs are 'weak' will go to the chest clinic in the Court House either Friday or Saturday, of this week they will learn the real condition of their lungs."

"The men who are going to examine here rank among the highest in the state as examiners of the human chest. I wish it were possible for every 'sickly' person in the city to pass before them."

"I am familiar with all the details of the organization plans for the chest-house clinic, and I know that everything possible has been done to provide strictest privacy, and most thorough examination for the large number of people expected."

"The Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which is financed wholly by the sale of Christmas Seals, I understand has been conducting clinics for some time, and its staff is well able to manage so large an undertaking. The chest clinic has the full endorsement of the health department." With these words Dr. Armstrong, city health officer, urged the people of the city of La Crosse to attend the free chest clinic in the Court House September 10th and 11th.

The Whole Secret of A Better Tire

Simply a Matter of the Maker's Policies

This you will realize—once you try a Brunswick—that a super-tire is possible only when the name certifies that the maker is following the highest standards.

For tire making is chiefly a matter of standards and policies—cost plus care. Any maker can build a good tire if he cares to pay perfection's price.

All men know Brunswick standards, for Brunswick products have been famous for 74 years.

Formulas, fabrics and standards vary vastly in cost. Reinforcements, plies and thickness are a matter of expense. And these variations affect endurance. It rests with the maker how far he wishes to go—how much he can afford to give.

For there are no secrets nor patents to hold one back.

To ascertain what each maker offers one must analyze and test some 200 tires—as our laboratories have done.

Then it is a matter of combining the best features and building according to the highest standards.

Once you try a Brunswick you will understand how we have built model tires, regardless of factory expense.

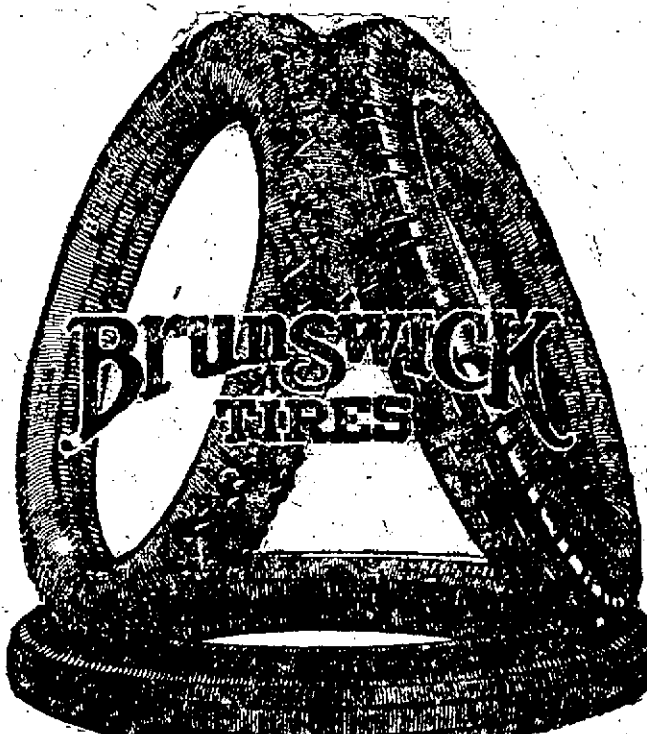

Yet Brunswick Tires cost you the same as other like-type tires. Our saving is on selling cost, through our nation-wide organization.

We realize that you expect more from Brunswicks, and we assure you that you get it. ONE Brunswick will tell you the story.

And then you'll want ALL Brunswicks. No other tire you'll agree, gives so much for your money.

SALEM POLL CLOSES TOO EARLY DENYING MANY VOTING RIGHT

Estimated that Nearly Hundred are Turned Away as Result of Misunderstanding

As a result of a misunderstanding regarding the primary election law, as amended by the last legislature in respect to the time or closing the polls in villages and towns, between 50 and 100 electors in the village of West Salem were not permitted to vote last evening, even though they appeared at the poll in the village and requested this right.

The old law called for the closing of polls in villages at 5:30 in the afternoon. The last legislature amended the statute, extending the closing time to 8 o'clock.

In West Salem yesterday the election clerks, laboring under the impression that the old law was still in effect, closed the poll at 5:30, although there were 30 or 40 electors who appeared within a few minutes prepared to vote.

Citizens who knew the closing time had been designated as 8 o'clock by the legislature clamored for admission to the poll, but the election clerks insisted they were right and declared the time for voting ended. It was estimated in West Salem last night that close to 100 persons appeared at the poll after it closed and before 8 o'clock, prepared to vote.

La Crosse lawyers said today that the mistake of the West Salem election clerks afforded opportunity for an election contest provided there were any close results. The consensus of opinion, however, was that the votes of those who had cast their ballots in the precinct would not be invalidated and cast out in any event.

SPECIAL RATES FOR RED ARROW MEETING GRANTED BY ROADS

Special Rate of Fare and One-third for Round Trip to be Charged by Railroads

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—After three months of effort on the part of the General Arrangements Committee of the Thirty-Second Division of the American Association of Railroads in preparation for their first annual reunion at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, September 10, 20, 21, of this year, a fare and one-third rate was granted for the round trip to all that visit the reunion. Application for this rate must be made by letter to Paul B. Clemens of Superior, Wisconsin, Division Association secretary, who will issue a certificate to each person making the request. Contrary to early expectations of the reunion committee, the special fare rate will not be granted to the visitor upon demand at the ticket office unless he shows the certificate procured from Colonel Clemens by mail previous to buying his ticket. The rate is stated to be good from all points of the country. It is the first such rate authorized by the railroads for Wisconsin territory since the return of the roads from government operation.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, September 7th: Beneficial showers have occurred in some localities, but rains still needed over a large part of the state for late potatoes, corn, pasture, meadows, truck and tobacco. The nights have been too cool for satisfactory growth. The threshing of small grains has progressed slowly in most localities, but the yields generally have been satisfactory. The filling of the harvesting of tobacco are in swing and the digging of late potatoes has begun. The ground is too dry for fall plowing. In most sections sugar beets are doing well. The crop of plums and early apples is ripening. W. P. STEWART, Meteorologist.

PROTECT YOUR Car Investment

Talk of protecting a car investment by using a higher price gasoline is an inaccuracy.

Isn't it far better to protect your car investment by using a gasoline standardized by master craftsmen to the point of the utmost in efficiency, guaranteed by a Company who serves over 1,200,000 motorists?

Surely a product in daily use by such a multitude of users must be superior to a gasoline unknown, and practically untried.

Buy RED CROWN GASOLINE 29c Per Gallon

This low price is the result of standardization. The loopholes in manufacturing cost have been plugged up.

Test out Red Crown. Convince yourself of the truth of these statements. You will gain that which will contribute more satisfaction to your motoring than any other single factor.

ROD and REEL

by Dick Carroll
Author of LAKE and STREAM GAME FISHING

BASSING WITH THE FLY

Copyright, 1920, Stewart & Kidd Co.
Going after the bass with the fly is sure the right system of fishing, if you have a desire to cultivate the tingling nerves and to cultivate the pulse. Nothing in the game will give you more thrills than to have a two or three-pound bass take the fly and then try to shake him loose—that is, of course, if you are handling the working end of the rod. And if this old bass is a stream-raised youngster, he will give you more fight than any other fish, weight for weight.

A knowledge of the waters to be fished and an understanding of the habits and habits of the bass is more essential in fly-fishing for him than in any other angle of the sport. Casting for the bass in the deep waters when he is in the shallows will simply give you practice; you must know the time of year when he haunts the deep pools and when he is found in the shallows, and this working knowledge only comes from study and observation.

Wading a stream and whipping the water in a semi-circle as you go along is far more enjoyable than lake fly-fishing, and at the same time a great deal can be waded makes about the best kind of bass water for the use of the fly. The shallow pools above and below riffles or rapids are likely spots for the hungry bass as well as the eddies along the sides of rapids, fast into the swirl of water as it passes around a boulder and off the edge of the waterfalls, logs and brush. In all of which locations are generally the loafing places of a fine old bass.

In lake fishing with the fly the bright, sunny day is not for you. The bass lie to the fly particularly on a day when the surface is broken by a slight breeze, and the best time for casting is in the early morning and late in the evening. From sunset to dusk is the best time when the day has been bright—in fact, most any day. On the lake cast your fly inshore on the bars and shallows or ledges and off the edges of lily pads, rushes and weed beds, as well as alongside the half-submerged logs and windfalls along shore. The fly should be allowed to sink considerably and a slightly jerky crawl given to it when working in the line. This is done to fool the bass into believing the object of the fly-maker's art is a struggling insect trying to get out of the water. Whether it fools him or not is something I do not know, but I think they like it out of curiosity more than anything else. I have seen the greenest beginner take a whirl at tossing the feathery morsels and, by using care and judgment in the approach, land some fine bass, and at the time he did not know what motions the fly was taking at any one time, but he did know and realize that the bass is a wise old bird and you have to go at him on the guesswork order if you expect to land him on a fly.

On the stream it is preferable to fish downstream, as the bass lie with the head upstream, and with the current carrying your fly on its natural course the bass have more chance to see it and thus become a possible candidate for the reel. Then again, it is far easier to wade downstream than it is going up.

For dark days and early evening use light-colored flies, and for the bright days the darker flies. Smaller flies of a subdued color tied on a No. 6 or 7 hook is right for low, clear water on a bright day, while for after sunset and moonlight casting the gray, white and brown flies tied on a larger hook, a No. 2 or 4 size, are more likely to attract the fish than the smaller ones. For rough and turbid water the brightly colored feathers are best. In selecting your flies don't overlook the black, brown, gray and huckles; you will often find that the old reliable huckles will bring a rise after you have tried every other combination in your fly book.

Nearly every fellow who whips the light fly rod has his own particular selection of flies, and by these he swears like a paragon; however, for the beginner, besides the huckles the following selection will give a fairly varied assortment that will pass muster until he cracks the first fish, and the fly used at that time will no doubt be given the place of honor in his fly list. I have found these flies crowd the list: Queen of the Waters, Lord Baltimore, Montreal, Grizzly King, Coachman, Professor, Red Hot, Soft Green, White Miller, King of the Water, Ferguson, Mettity, Emerson Hough, Silver Doctor and Partridge Belle. Here are flies of enough variety in color for all kinds of water, and as you make up your own list you will find that many of the above will be retained, as they have made good from the start with many fishermen.

One of the essentials in bassing with the fly is to keep out of sight of the fish as much as possible. The bass is every bit as wary as the trout, although once he sees you he will not care away and disappear like the trout, but he will dash off a little distance and stop, facing you. However, don't waste time trying to make him take your fly, because he has a case of "nerves" and you can cast it right over his nose and he'll give it the disinterested glance. On the small bass streams keep entirely out of sight and on the wider waters make a long cast, the finer the water the more caution and the longer the cast. On casting from the shore it is well to be screened by bushes or any natural formation. Wading is the best method, however, as the nearer you are to the water the less chance the fish have of seeing you, and even at that you should be as quiet as possible and make it a point to avoid quick or sudden moves.

Cast your flies as lightly as possible and avoid letting them land with a splash by slightly raising the tip of the rod right before they reach the water and let the current help you by allowing the flies to run with it.

DRYS OF 31 NATIONS WILL MEET IN U. S.

N. E. A. Staff Special
WASHINGTON—Should the temperance societies of the United States disband, now that national prohibition has been decreed by constitutional amendment, or should they maintain their organizations and stay on the job?

That question is to receive the consideration of dry delegates from 31 nations—the delegates, not the nations being dry—at the 15th International Congress Against Alcoholism, which will meet in Washington September 21-26. And the chief thesis on the subject will be presented by Professor J. Gonsler, of Berlin, Germany.

Scientific Side
For most part the delegates are men and women interested in prohibition and its study as a scientific rather than as a moral or sentimental issue.

The questions of light wines and beer will be presented by Dr. P. Amaldi of Florence, Italy, and Mme. Dr. Duzynska of Warsaw, Poland, respectively. Amaldi will discuss his studies on "Wine as a Cause of Alcoholism," and Mme. Duzynska will speak on "Beer and Alcoholism." IF GIRL SUICIDES—IS LOVER RESPONSIBLE?

SHANGHAI—Can the suicide of a romantic girl be charged to the man with whom she was in love?

Legal rights have this question to wrestle with in the interior of China. Here is the story of this Oriental tragedy:

Nineteen-year-old Tsang-kwe was betrothed by her parents to a man she had never seen. It was the custom, she knew, and from childhood she had accepted with resignation her future as mapped out by her family.

Foreign Ways
But foreign ways and customs came to her land with increasing force. She learned to read and write and to accept many of the foreign ways as good.

Then came the man. He is Nyi Ah-sz, a handsome young Oriental, with charming manners—and a past master in the art of love-making. He was more than fair to her sight and he swore she should be his.

But she was betrothed to another and the wedding day was rapidly approaching. "We will flee together," she cried. But he refused, pointing out the disgrace it would bring on her family.

Kills Herself.
"I'll end my life," the girl cried, "for I don't love the man I have to marry."

Her lover thought it was an empty threat—but she carried it out. Now Nyi Ah-sz is under arrest on a charge of having caused the girl to end her life. The case has been remanded to the British assessor, who conducted the inquest.

BRINGING UP FATHER

OHIO STATE HAS STIFF SCHEDULE FOR THIS SEASON

Chicago and Illinois Only Games to be Played on Foreign Gridirons

OHIO WESLEYAN IS FIRST FOR BUCKEYES OCTOBER 2

"Chic" Harley is Main Loss to 1920 Machine

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Five western conference games and two Ohio conference games are on the football schedule of Ohio State this fall. Only two games will be played away from home—Chicago and Illinois—and both in the latter part of the season.

Starting October 2 with Ohio Wesleyan as their opponent, the Buckeyes will follow one of the stiffest schedules in years. The changes from last year's schedule are the absence of Kentucky, State and Cincinnati and the addition of Oberlin and Chicago. Oberlin was dropped from Ohio State's list in 1916 following 128 to 0 defeat administered to them. Superior playing last year and the fact that they shared honors with two other Ohio colleges in ritual state championship honors led to their return into the fold of the state universities' opponents.

When the Buckeyes journey to Chicago for their first game abroad October 30, it will be the first time that any Buckeye football men have met Coach Stagg's warriors on the football field. Athletic officials at the Buckeye institution for several years have attempted to annex Chicago to their string. It was not until last year, after Ohio State had shown on three successive occasions that she was of western conference championship caliber, that the signature of Chicago officials was attached to the playing documents.

With the exception of the loss of "Chic" Harley who has completed three years of western conference competition and the withdrawal from the university of a couple of linemen, the team is expected to be practically the same as last year's. Developing a couple of ends will be the chief difficulty of Coach Wilce when the season opens, as Flowers and Myers, last year's ends, are not available. Flowers has left school and it is undetermined whether or not Myers will be able to play this year. McDonald, another end of last year, graduated. It is quite likely that some of last year's freshmen material will be worked in at this position, notably Isabel and possibly Cruz.

Pixley, guard on last year's team, will not return to school, and that position also remains to be occupied. In the back field somebody will have to be developed to fill "Chic" Harley's shoes, if possible. Hobe Workman of Huntington, W. Va., seems to be a likely candidate for that honor. Workman is said to be one of the best freshmen players at the university in years. He played quarter last year on the freshmen team and repeatedly ripped up the varsity play and made fine open field runs. Stinchcomb may be shifted to a half in the event Workman is retained at quarter where he played on the varsity squad.

Following are the men of last year's squad who are regarded as sure to return to school. Captain Huffman, Spiers, Trot, Newcock, Slyker, Williams, Stinchcomb, Taylor, Bliss and Myers.

WATCHIN' THE CLOUDS

What does a championship mean? How much is it worth to the possessor? It can truly be said that a title in the boxing game doesn't bring much happiness.

No sooner is a crown won than the public weighs the new stranger or retainer on the sensitive and ever-changing scales of popular opinion. It goes into his past. It sizes him up as he is now. Not content with this it maps out his future destinies. A new circle of friends soon surrounds him. Some of these are genuine, but most of them are of the morning glory variety.

Also there are wolves who bark at every move the champion makes. They wonder if he is the goods, and doubt if he is on the level. They criticize him if he doesn't defend his title. They pan him for boxing contenders, considered easy marks. If he gets big purses the public howls its disapproval. If he doesn't get big purses, they say he is being poorly managed.

Yet the world title is the goal of them all. It is the key to big money. It can dictate terms, times and places. Look them over—Dempsey, Wilson, Britton, Leonard, Kilbane, Wilde—all of these are either rich or well on the road.

A title lasts but a short time. Another comes along to lift it. Titles, like time, are fleeting. They bring in the coin, but—

STUDENTS PROTEST NEW COACHING RULE AT MINNESOTA U

Favor Return of Former Students to Coach Schoolmates if Desired

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 8.—Much opposition has been expressed by students and coaches at the University of Minnesota to the ruling passed last spring prohibiting former students of the colleges in the "Big Ten" conference from returning and coaching their former schoolmates for money or for playing professional football, upon penalty of forfeiting all letters, emblems and medals won in amateur competition while in school.

In point of fact, this rule, although aimed at men who, having been graduated from their respective schools, now engage in professional football, means that former players of Minnesota and other conference teams shall forfeit their right to wear their school letter and other marks of athletic prowess if they return to their alma mater and receive money for assisting the coaches of the school.

This rule seems particularly objectionable to Minnesota as Bert Easton, all-American end, Merton Dunnigan, "Pudge" Wyman, Harold Hanson, Earl Pickering, Johnny McGovern and many other stars of former days, either now are or have been engaged as assistants to Dr. H. L. Williams, head coach at the Gopher school.

The stand taken by many of the students at Minnesota is that when a student has been graduated from his college the athletic department loses control over him.

Dr. Henry Williams, football coach, Dr. L. T. Cooke, basketball coach and physical director, and Leonard Frank, track coach, all are reported as opposed to the bill.

SPORT SUMMARY

ROSLYN, N. Y.—Thirty-six golfers representing Scotland, Canada, and all sections of the United States continued play Tuesday for the national amateur championship. The first seven on the course competed in order to bring their number down to three, having tied at 165 in the preliminary round Monday. When these three were selected they and 29 others began the match play which will decide the championship in the final round Saturday. The gallery devoted most of its attention Tuesday to the match between Bob Gardner of Chicago and G. P. Grier, the Canadian champion.

HARDING TALKS ON FARM PROBLEMS AT GOPHER STATE FAIR

Program Designed to Make Nation Self-Sustaining and Improve Farm Conditions

MUST DECIDE ON DEFINITE AGRICULTURAL POLICY

Government Drives on Food Prices Useless Says Candidate

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 8.—Following close on the heels of Governor Cox, his democratic opponent, Senator Harding, republican candidate for president, had a busy day in St. Paul today, including an address on agriculture at the Minnesota State Fair grounds.

Senator Harding and his party were greeted by a delegation of republicans and other citizens when their special train arrived from Chicago this morning. He first visited the state fair grounds and made a brief address to farm boys attending the exposition.

At noon he was the guest of the state fair board at luncheon. He was scheduled to speak at 1:30 p. m., before the grandstand—his principal address of the day.

He and Mrs. Harding were to be the guests at a reception here and at Minneapolis this afternoon and evening.

Talks on Agriculture
MINNESOTA STATE FAIR GROUNDS, Sept. 8.—An agricultural program designed to keep the nation self-sustaining and to improve the condition of the farmer was outlined by Senator Harding, republican nominee for president, in a speech today at the Minnesota State Fair.

The candidate set forth his policy as contemplating the following steps: Larger representation for farmers in governmental affairs, particularly with regard to trade and finance; Establishment of a system of cooperative associations for marketing farm products.

A scientific study of the world market for farm products with a view to stabilization of prices.

Stop Price-Fixing
Curbing, of unnecessary price-fixing and of "ill-considered efforts arbitrarily to reduce farm produce prices."

Administration of the farm loan act so as to decrease tenancy, promote diversified farming and provide long-term credits.

Restoration of railway facilities to a state of highest efficiency.

Revision of the tariff to protect American agriculture from unfair competition.

Both reclamation and intensive farming, he said, would have their places in development of the nation's agricultural resources to a capacity which would insure to posterity an abundance of domestic food products.

Improve Farm Life

Depicting the drift of population from country to city, Senator Harding advocated an improvement in the social life of the farm and such an administration of economic laws as would insure "a fair balance between our urban and rural industries."

The candidate described his conception of the future of American farming as contemplating "a system of agriculture which will enable us to feed our people abundantly, with some to spare for export in years of plenty, and at prices which will insure to the farmer and his family both financial rewards and educational, social and religious living conditions fairly comparable to those offered by cities."

"Government drives against food prices are equally vain and useless," he continued. "The actual result is unjustly to depress for a time the prices the farmer receives for his grains and livestock, but with no deduction in prices the consumer pays."

"The time has come," said he, "when we must determine on a definite agricultural policy. We must decide whether we shall undertake to make the United States a self-sustaining nation or continue to exploit our agricultural resources for the benefit of our industrial and commercial life."

"The farmer requires no special favors at the hands of the government. All he needs is a fair chance and such just consideration for agriculture as we ought to give to a basic industry."

AMERICAN RED CROSS SENDING HOME 780 WANDERING RUSSIAN YOUNGSTERS SENT OUT OF PETROGRAD YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Voyaging around the world to reach their homes, 780 Russian waifs, all that have been accounted for of probably 6,000 children sent out of Petrograd by their parents when revolution gripped the old Russian capital, are on their way from San Francisco to New York by way of the Panama Canal. They came from Vladivostok under the care of the American Red Cross of which they have been wards for two years. They are going back to Petrograd after suffering and wanderings that for some of them have blotted out every recollection of their parents, the places of their birth or even their own names.

Speaking of the experiences of the children, who range in age from 2 to 17 years, a statement by the Red Cross said: "The long sea journey writes the last chapter in a history of wandering and adventure in a revolution torn country, that can hardly be matched in the whole record of world upheaval in the last six years," the announcement says. "It seems almost a tale out of the Old Testament or Greek Mythology and a thousand years from now, it is perhaps not too much to say, the Russians with their dramatic instinct and mysticism will have made it a part of their rich folklore."

When the revolution broke out in Russia, the report continued, many parents in Petrograd decided to send the youngsters into peaceful Siberia "until the trouble was over." They were sent east in charge of nurses and teachers.

Later, a barrier of fire marking the battle line of the opposing Russian and Czech armies had been stretched between the youngsters and their homes. Months passed. Winter arrived, funds were exhausted and hunger and war horrors increased the wanderers. The Omsk government, appealed to for help, passed it on to the Red Cross.

Group after group was taken over by the Red Cross, which established colonies in western Siberia and had apparently solved the problem of caring for its charges when the battle line swayed eastward and the Bolsheviks captured town after town. Groups of the children barely escaped capture. Finally it was decided to take them to Vladivostok.

Three trains of specially equipped box cars with a guard of American doughboys transported the precious cargo on a journey lasting several weeks through a country stripped bare of provisions, "the report continued. "It may be said that ingenuity was taxed to the utmost in obtaining supplies, avoiding disease epidemics and evading other troubles."

Finally the children were settled at Russian Islands in Vladivostok harbor in barracks with German and Austrian prisoners pressed into service to do heavy work. Schools and hospitals were established, natural talents were cultivated and thirteen of the larger girls took a course of training which fitted them to be nurses. Several youngsters showed unusual abilities at music, painting and dancing.

The children will visit at Panama Canal ports and in New York city on their way home.

Most Men Like Blue.
Ask any man what color he likes his wife or sweetheart to wear, and it's ten chances to one he'll tell you "white" or "blue." White has always been held to represent purity. The Bible uses that color to symbolize absolute saintliness; poets from the very first have sung about it, and writers have written about the whiteness of a good woman's soul. In the same way blue has always been held to mean gentleness, truth and steadfastness.

Presidential Nomenclature
Considering the fact that the United States has kept practically an open door for a century and more to all comers, and that millions of Germans, Scandinavians, Italians and others have settled in the land, it is surprising that only two Presidents have borne other than British surnames. These were both Dutch, Van Buren and Roosevelt.

AMERICAN WORKERS IN DANGER NEAR TURKISH CAPITAL

Many Have Narrow Escapes in Battles of British and Greeks With Bandits

CONSTANTINOPLE.—Many Americans have had narrow escapes in the fighting which British and Greek troops have kept up for several weeks with the bandits which are harassing the eastern shore of the Bosphorus. Belkos, a summer place 10 miles north of this city reached by hourly ferry service, has been the chief center of the fights between bands of adherents of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Nationalist leader, and the British-Greek soldiers operating under the artillery protection of British warships.

An American oil company is erecting two great steel tanks at Belkos which came well within the line of fire between the rival forces. The steel-riveters were compelled to flee for their lives and for several days bullets played cat-and-mouse on the tanks which were nearly as constant as the tune of the riveting machines. Many Americans were in Summer camps and cottages in the vicinity of Belkos the night the fighting began, but they speedily moved to the western shore of the Bosphorus, where it was possible for several nights to watch the fighting on the Anatolian hills by the light of the naval rockets and searchlights used in directing the gunnery. Robert College and Constantinople College for Women, the two American institutions of higher learning on the Bosphorus, both commanded an excellent view of the struggle and were safely out of range of the nationalist bullets.

Professor F. W. Kelsey, of the University of Michigan, was prevented by the fighting in Anatolia from making a survey of the famous battlefields of Caesar south of Samsoun. Professor Kelsey has been in Turkey for many weeks investigating old manuscripts and studying ruins of the Roman civilization. He hoped to make the trip from Samsoun to Zulu, about which one of Caesar's best-known campaigns was waged, and had made all arrangements for motor transportation. But the unsettled political conditions and the activities of the various bands forced him to abandon the expedition.

This section certainly owes a lot to the automobile

LOOK at it just from the business standpoint, compared with, say, ten years ago—or even five.

Everything speeded up—made easier. Nearly every business man depending on the automobile to transport himself and his products.

That is one reason, perhaps, why more attention is being paid to tires—why tire costs are being figured closer and people are beginning to look for better tires.

We believe that people are entitled to better tires—the best they can get.

Not only the man with the big car, but the man with the small car, and the medium sized car.

III

We represent U. S. Tires for that reason—because their policy is the same as ours—every tire as good as you can get it, regardless of the size of the car it is to go on.

It was that policy which led to the introduction of the straight side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire.

And you can't beat it.

IV

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, with no limitation of mileage.

It will pay you to talk to us about tires, if you are looking at them from a business standpoint.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.
